

LIVE ABOVE THE CLOUDS

AXIS – The new view over Frankfurt.

The Frankfurter Skyline with its striking towers has always been the landmark of this important European financial capital. While in the past it was always office towers, "skyscrapers" for people have recently been going up to an increasing extent, for those who like to live high above things. AXIS, the residential tower in the newly-created European Quarter in the heart of the pulsating city centre, is a residential tower that offers its occupants exciting views. These views were eponymous for AXIS. Designed for top calibre clients' expectations in cooperation with the renowned Meixner, Schlüter, Wendt architectural bureau, it offers its residents an exclusive, livable standard of equipment and a comprehensive range of services such as a concierge service in the traditional style of American apartment buildings. The flexible layouts leave no further wishes unfulfilled for the future residents with regard to interior design. The entire ensemble consists of one residential tower with 19 floors, on which 144 exclusive self-owned apartments ranging in size from 65 m² to 277 m² are being erected. In addition, eight townhouses will be realised, which are connected with the residential tower via an open atrium garden with green and water areas. The first residents can enjoy the outstanding view over Frankfurt city centre in 2016. AXIS shifts the emphasis from the view and pushes other values into the foreground: quality of life, style of living and nature. ■ www.axis-frankfurt.de

The architecture of the 60 m high residential tower is impressive. The architectural highlight is the organic representative façade made of natural stone. Luxury and superior interior architecture go without saying at AXIS
